

CARVED OFF NOSE

New Haven Barber Breaks Razor Taking
Revenge on a Collector.

New Haven, Nov. 20.—Because Domenico Simone had a spite against Philip Colla, an agent for a sewing machine company from whom he had bought a machine and who was collecting the purchase price from him by their installment plan, Domenico took advantage yesterday of his occupation as a barber to take his revenge out of his collector through physical violence. Colla came into the barber shop at 392 Grand avenue for a shave and in the course of the shave as a result presumably of some remarks regarding the sewing machine payments, Simone waxed wrath and made a motion to slice the nose from Colla's face. He came down with a fearful slash on the bridge of Colla's nose with so much force indeed that he broke the razor. Needless to say he inflicted a very painful wound on Colla's nose and might very easily have done very serious damage. Simone ran away but was caught last night by Patrolman Lyons and is held at present under a charge of breach of the peace.

BROTHER IN SEARCH
OF WALTER F. DOYLEMissing Man Was Employed in Lumber
Yard Here Ten Years Ago.

Relatives of Walter F. Doyle, formerly employed in a local lumber yard have instituted search for him. He has been missing for nearly 10 years. C. T. Doyle, of 14 Charles street, Boston, writing to friends in this city has asked their co-operation in locating him.

Doyle is living in 32 years old, and when last seen had black straight hair streaked with gray. He was 5 feet nine inches tall and his weight was about 150. He had fair teeth, and the first joint of his left little finger showed the effects of a baseball injury.

T. Doyle has taken charge of the search, and he is eagerly awaiting information from Bridgeport, for in 1900 he says his brother worked in a lumber yard and before that time was in the employ of Stapleton Brothers.

"THE FLIGHT OF PRINCESS TRIS"—Personal magnetism is remarkably illustrated in Mildred and Rouchere's latest success "The Flight of Princess Tris," which will be presented here Friday and Saturday with daily matinees. The proof of this is shown in the above enthralling world's greatest story teller, Marshall P. Wilder, portray or how cleverly they may disguise their features a personality creeps out that is pleasant to behold and impossible to forget; and this personal quality which proceeds from their nature rather than art, is frequently puzzling. In conjunction with the above entertainment the world's greatest story teller, Marshall P. Wilder, will appear at every performance. There will be no increase in the usual prices.

TEMPLE QUARTETTE

The Temple Quartette at Poli's Next Week

IN THE THEATRES

POLI'S

JACKSON'S

The program for the coming week will be one with which there can possibly be no fault found. It is full of good things.

In the first place, there will be the big headliner, the Palace Girls, eight in number, and comprising the handsomest little daisies on the boards, every one of whom can dance to beat the bush. And moreover, there will be the worthy assistance of Arthur Clemens, a great novelty dancer, who will assist in making the act especially attractive.

A special added feature for the week will be Violet Black and her company, in the new and delightful farce, "The Subway," a clever skit in which they have made a tremendous success. The playlet is prettily and effectively staged, and the people engaged are exceptionally clever.

Then there will be the Temple Quartette well and favorably known as one of the prime organizations of its kind in vaudeville. One of the four young men is a splendid pianist, and he accompanies the others in their vocal selections, which will include a series of the latest and most popular songs.

The Gash Sisters, another especially well known team, will provide some of the most artistic and difficult feats of hand balancing ever seen on the local stage. These clever girls have achieved a wonderful success in England, their home, and in this country they have been more than repeating the triumphs won abroad.

Frank Wilson, undoubtedly the greatest single wheel rider on the vaudeville stage, will give one of his incomparable performances, in which he has made a big success everywhere. Mr. Wilson is without a rival in his particular branch.

That humorous trickster Jarro, has been seen here before, and has always given the most complete satisfaction. He is as clever with his hands as it is possible for human being to be. Jarro is certainly a complete success in his line.

Be sure and see this evening's performance, and then you will want to see that next week, so that you can judge for yourselves which is the better.

NEW SUITOR FOR MRS. O. H. P. BELMONT

New York, Nov. 20.—It was given out yesterday at the Harper Press Bureau up at the Fifth avenue address headquarters that another man wants to marry Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont.

Mrs. Harper said that although it was not part of her official duty to keep the list of Mrs. Belmont's matrimonial proposals up to date, she thought this particular one was worthy of mention.

"It was made by letter," she said, "and came from a Western man—no I won't tell you his name or address, it wouldn't be honorable anyway, this man said he believed in woman suffrage, and was much interested in the part Mrs. Belmont had been taking in the movement. But what do you suppose? He went on to say that in his opinion no woman should undertake any really big thing without the aid of some man. He was sure that the combination of Mrs. Belmont's money and his brains could win the ballot for the women of America in almost no time. He said that his references were of the best, both socially and financially, and he thought Mrs. Belmont would be doing a wise thing in permitting him to lead her to the altar."

Mrs. Harper said in reply to a question that Mrs. Belmont had not yet answered the letter.

FOR SUNDAY EVENING. Another of those enjoyable song services will be held in the First Methodist church at 7:15 tomorrow evening, and you are invited to lend your presence and your voice. The subject of the sermon will be "Seeking and Finding God."

FIRST CONGREGATIONAL CHURCH. At both services tomorrow Thanksgiving music will be rendered. Morning service at 10:30 a. m. and evening service at 7:30 p. m. Choir, Miss Haley, Mrs. Davis, Mr. Wallace, Mr. Clarke, Miss Eva E. Frisbie.

ARCANUM BOWLERS. The team which is to represent Seaside Council, Royal Arcanum, in the State Carpet Bowling League was picked last evening, in an elimination series, the following being decided the best bowlers: Charles Morrison, Hugh M. Robinson, Charles Sherwood, S. Page, George Hatterly and A. J. Wilkinson.
